

Admission and execution use separate state transitions

Only a fully validated batch can cross the admission boundary.

